Drive workplace decisions with unified occupancy and space usage data

Build a cost-efficient, productive work environment based on how people actually use your workspace. Get attendance and space insights directly while editing the workplace map for data-driven scenario planning.

Get an accurate understanding of workplace attendance with passive integrations

Set your company's in-office target and see how well employees are adhering to it. Ensure accurate occupancy data by passively collecting information from all sources, such as door access scans and Wi-Fi connections, in one unified view.

- Reduce wasted space and save on real estate expenses.
- Identify underutilized areas and repurpose them efficiently.
- Optimize employee amenities based on utilization patterns, minimizing waste.
- Identify cost-saving measures while ensuring employee satisfaction and comfort.
- Reduce expenses associated with catering by aligning food services with demand.
- Streamline operational staffing needs through data-backed scheduling adjustments.

The Knot Worldwide makes moments that matter with Envoy Workplace

ABOUT

While the company got its start helping people plan their weddings, The Knot Worldwide has expanded into a global organization that helps people celebrate life's big moments. The company needed to be agile with managing its real estate and workplace design, especially when expanding its footprint with opening a new Barcelona office space

SOLUTION

With 10 global locations to manage, The Knot Worldwide leveraged Envoy's analytics to better understand how their employees use different kinds of spaces. This optimized workplace design to match employee needs for casual collaboration and flexible meeting room design, spurring investment in amenities like movable white boards and room partitions.

WHAT THEY HAVE TO SAY

"Based on our previous experience and data from our other offices, we designed Barcelona's office to have more collaborative spaces taking the place of traditional desks. While [there are] individual workstations available to reserve, employees can [also] book seats at collaborative tables, like cafe seating, to encourage casual conversations.

When we switched to Envoy, I had employees—who I've never interacted with before—reach out to me to say this is the best platform ever!"

- Amber Green, Global Workplace Manager
